HOSPITAL COMFORTS AND WANTS -Dr. Bell, President of the Sanitary Commission for the Department of Kentucky, gratefully acknowledges the following contributions for the soldiers in Kentucky:

Eighteen boxes of various articles for the comfort, health, and welfare of sick soldiers. These contributions are due to the energy, zeal, loyalty, and untiring efforts of the Soldiers' Aid Society, of Cleveland, Ohio, and are contributed through its President, Mrs. B. Rouse, who is emphatically the right woman in the right place.

The loyal lidies of Petersburg, Huntingdon county, Pennsylvania, have also made a liberal contribution to the Sanitary Commission through Mr. Joseph M. Stevens. This contribution could not have reached this city more seasonably and opportunely. It has aided materially in making rout the scessh at West Liberty. The rebels are principally mounted and carry their povisions with them. So rapid and daring are their movements, that even Lexington is not regarded by its citizens as perfectly secure. Our Frankfort correspondent makes a suggestion, and we think it an excellent one, that Eastern Kentucky be included in Gen. Rosecrans's Department. We do not rogard Lexington as in serious danger. There are two many troops in camp in Ohio to allow the secesh to possess that city. If there is the slight-est energy, or the slightest effort made to bring est energy, or the slightest effort made to bring fresh Obio troops into the field, half a dozen re-giments could be forwarded within three days.

We would suggest that companies of cavalry should be raised in each county and well armed, to act in concert with each other to put down these raids at a moment's warning. There are

A CASE OF LARCENY .- We have stated already that officer Charles Junot arrested a thief at the landing on Friday morning, when in the act of crossing the river, who had in his possession a large amount of stolen property, an inventory of which we gave at the time. The man gave his name as Dick Reed, alias Harvey Huston. The accused was partially examined before Judge Mr. Hall made the presentation speech, and was Johnston, of the City Court, vesterday, and held for final examination on Wednesday. We have been shown the Rosary and Prayer Book unable to furnish you with a copy of the remarks which were found among the collection of stolen | made by Colonel Logan; but must characterize articles. The Prayer Book contains the following them as the most elequent and spirited I have on the fly-leaf: "From her friend Mary Lewis, ever heard on such an occasion. to Julia Yager, Louisville, Ky., May 17th, 1861." "Mrs. Mary Ryan's Prayer Book-Presented to ed to lay on their arms to-night-otherwise the her as a token of affection by a kind friend, September 1st, 1852." The clasp bears the innitials is delightful. "M. D. H." Among the stolen goods was the following memorandum: "George Ramsey, Baker for Lebanon." GEO. D. PERNTICES Editors. OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor and Reporter. TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1861.

Why should we legislate further on the We respectfully submit this question to the earnest consideration of all concerned. Congress on this head enacted the following law at the last session: And be it further enacted, That whenever then, and in every such case, the person to whom such labor or strice is claimed to be due shall forfeit his claim to such labor, any law of the State or of the United States to the contrary notwithstanding. And whenever thereafter the person claiming such labor or service shall seek to enforce his claim, it shall be a full and suffi-

This is the existing law on the subject The enactment of even this law was resisted in the Halls of Congress by the whole of the Kentucky delegation. Mr. Crittenden opposed it in one of the most solemn and impassioned efforts of his life. Nay, it is a well-known fact that the President himself was strongly opposed to the bill, refusing at first to sign it after its passage by Congress, and signing it at last only under the pressure of one of those state necessities to which a statesman may sometimes excusably yield. What has taken place in the meantime that renders a new law on the same subject necessary or this question. We especially entreat the President to ponder it. Every consideration that weighed against the enactment of the present law weighs against the enactment of a new law enlargement. This objection cannot be fairly disputed, and it lies with irresistible weight against any enlargement whatever of the presgathers particular weight from a grave consideration which did not appear distinctly at the that he is awakening to the perils of his situatime of the enactment of the present law. Such would be the necessary tendency of this bill if it should be adopted. Its adoption would not promote the true object of the war in a single respect, but would fatally retard it in all respects. If adopted, it could not be enforced until after the triumph of our arms, which it would render more difficult indefinitely if not finally impossible, and its enforcement at last would prove but the consummation of our ruin. The adoption of the bill would serve to defeat the condition of its execution, and its execution would defeat the purpose of its adoption. The bill is a climax of cross-purposes. A measure unsuited more utterly and absurdly to its avowed friends of the country everywhere to ponder end could scarcely be imagined. These certainly are transient causes", that it has become incorporated into the ethics of this subject, that, even when the tyranny of a government is atrocious, and when mild expedients have been resorted to for ages, and in vain, as in the cases of Poland and Venitia, and Montenegro, any attempt at revolution would be wholly unnation second the President's resolution and justifiable, which was not well considered which was not likely to succeed; and which was certain to inflict greater evils than it cured.

Tried by any of these tests, this war upon our government, so far from being justly entitled to the name of a revolution, is pronounced to be not only downright rebellion, but the most inexcusable and ruinous rebellion ever inaugurated! And oh! the soul that believes in retributive justice is struck with horror when it beholds fields desolated, houses burned, families impoverished, and mourning sands of innocent victims by the madness of a few infatuated demagogues and the unspeakable folly of their dupes, and all for causes so trivial as to be utterly unworthy of agraph found its way into our columns a few record on the pages of history, and when days ago stating that Gen. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: HEADQUARTERS GEN. Mc COOK'S DIVISION CAMP WOOD, Dec. 14 h, 1861. GENTLEMEN: In the Journal of yesterday and to-day, you speak of some sick soldiers who ar-rived at Louisville on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad train on Thursday last, and who found no one to transport them to the general hospital. As you desire an explanation of the matter, I will endeavor to give it to you. In the forward movement of this division, one brigade was left at Nolin. On Tuesday last the Brigade Surgeon at Nolin reported the number of cases in his brigade to be sent to the general hospital, whom he was directed to send on the next day (Wednesday), and the Medical Director at epartment headquarters was duly notified by telegraph. Subsequently, however, upon re-ceiving orders to march, the Brigade Surgeon at Nolin decided, in the absence of the undersigned at division headquarters, to send some other sick nen to the general hospital, and they were sent

When sick men are sent from this command, timely notice is always given, and the men are always well cared for. The medical staff of the army are always ready to have their conduct investigated by the proper authorities, and ventilated by the public, so far as a just regard for the military service will permit.

The House re umed the consideration of the bill authorizing the raising of a volunteer force for the better defence of Kentucky.

Mr. Lovejby, of lil., hoped the bill would not pars. According to the official returns we have a standing army of between 600,000 to 700,000 a standing army of between 600,000 to 700,000 noils 238 Main et., between Third and Fourth.

instead of for the war should not be authorized. He did not understand that the military authorities had asked for this increase. Besides, he was opposed to the mode of raising them.

Mr. Richardson, of Ill., trusted that the bill would pass. The volunteers proposed to be raised in Kentucky were of the best kind and familiar with the State. The base of operations was at Louisville, and 20,000 men, were necessary to Louisville, and 20,000 men, were necessary to guard the case, the line on which our army is to Mr. Wickliffe said: Kentucky has furnished her anr. Wicking said: Keettacky has farmened ned quots of 27,000 men. He repeated what he said the other day, namely: That before he introduced the bill, he mentioned the subject to the Secretary of War, and also consulted the President, who together with his Cabinet, he was informed, apoved of the measure. As to Mr. Lovejov's sition, he knew that gentleman would gainst anything but what related to negroes. he course of his remarks, Mr. Wickliffe sat At 12 M, a small stock of seasonable CLOTHING.

The volunteers will not by required to serve in Kentucky alone, but to fight wherever our enemy can be found, and they will do it. He (Wickliffs) entered his pro-test against making a regular army cut of these more than 600,000 volunteers. The gentleman from Ilbnois (Lovejoy) was at the battle of Bull Run, and must have seen that we have not men enough. The decisive battle of this campaign must be fought in Kentucky, and when fought, e wanted the highways protected.

Mr. Stevens, of Peonsylvania, opposed the bill on financial grounds, saying that this war must be carried on in the most economical manner. Mr. Dunlap urged the passage of the bill and argued that there must be force enough to defend Kentucky at all hazards. Mr. Devin, of New York, also supported the WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. The excitement which was first caused by the somewhat bolligerent tone of the European news is rapidly subsiding, and there is a general belief that war with England can easily be avoided without dishonor. The President is known to be strongly opposed to the adoption of a warlike pol-cy against any foreign power under the present icy against any foreign power under the present circumstances of the country.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 16 P. M. The English news produced a profound sensa on in commercial and inflated circles and the opposition seems general that there is great dan er of a war with Eugland, but, while all admit hat if Wilkes did wrong in the Trent affair, apology should be made, but, if right, no hun ting concessions ought to be entertained for moment to England or any other Power.

The news greatly unsettled the markets and produced a temporary cessation of business, so that there was but little done in any department. St. Joseph, Dec. 15. Forty men of Gen. Prentiss's command returned here last night, most of them sick with measles. They report that the Federals had several skirmishes with the rebels on their march, killing few of them.

When at the river opposite Lexington, they were fired upon by the rebels at that place, and General Prentiss dispersed them with shell from three 12 pounders, but there being no ferry non means of crossing the river our forces were com-pelled to return to Richmond for forage, and to lispose of prisoners.

It was General Prentiss's intention, however, o cross the river on Saturday, at a point above texington, and the forces at Schalia and Kansa City which would join the rebels are reported t e about 2,000 strong. DETROIT, Dec. 16.

The European news creates a deep feeling. The probabilities of a war with England are freely discussed. There is a general desire for our Government to place itself right as regards law, when twill be entering. will be sustained at every sacrifice. BALTIMORE, Dec. 16.

The bark Agnes has arrived. She reports speaking the English brig Many Mortar, which reported that the Sumpter and Iroquois had a severe engagement, and one of them, she did not know which, had put into Martinique to repair. CLEVELAND, Dec. 16. The news from England produced a decided ensation in this section. The general sentiment is, that our Government must maintain its rights and dignity, regardless of English bluster.

all that we hold dear as freemen are again threatened with invasion. The enemy is within thirty miles, and even nearer, perhaps, by this time, of our doors, breathing threats of vengeance and desclation to Union homes and Union men. It is our doors, breathing threats of vengeance and described in the Union homes and Union men. It is wor a than madness to affect silent contempt for the danger threatening us. The lavading horde, whether only a thousand or less, or five thousand as claimed, is desperate with suffering in the mountains and long deferred hope of reveiling in the rich spoils of this section. That they will immediately attempt a raid upon this county there is no doubt. Does any one dream of concillating the good favors of these devils by a crawenly submission to their will? That there are such cowards and traitors among us I do not doubt, but, for their own good, let them be warned to churish the ignoble sentiment in the solitude of their own hearts, and not distract the connection of the county three is no doubt, but, for their own good, let them be warned to churish the ignoble sentiment in the solitude of their own hearts, and not distract the connecticular of the Cabinef, caused little ancasiness or apprehendist, and is not fully credited.

The most important information contained in the letter is concerning the probable occupation of Beaufort. An expedition set out for that place on Friday, December 6, the latest date, and undoubtedly soon succeeded in accomplishing its work. On Wednesday night, the rebels made a simultaneous movement in that vicinity to destroy the crops of colon and corn. It seems as if they had early intelligence of the expedition to Beaufort, and as if they were determined to injure us as much as possible. It is thought that a million dellars' worth of property was thus lest in a sindollars' worth of property was thus lost in a single night. Some fear, were feet, also, isst Beaufort should be burned before our troops could reach it. It is known that the rebels have been wait-

During the eighty years' war, which resulted in the triumphant establishment of the "United Notherlands," the city of Antwerp was besieged Notherlands," the city of Antwerp was besigned by the Spaniards under the command of the celebrated Prince of Parma. The possession of that city was the turning point in the war as far as the southern provinces (now Belgium) were concerned. Parma had nearly gained possession by constructing, at vast outlay, a bridge across the river Scheldt. To blow up that bridge was the aim of the Protestant forces within the beleagueed city. Accordingly two fire-ships—loaded with all manner of combustibles and terrible explosives—were floated down toward the bridge during the darkness of the night. As soon as the "hell-burners," as the Dutchmen styled them, blew the bridge to a oms, a rocket was to be cent up, and the heavy-armed Datch fleet lying below were to force their way through, and bring relief and triumph into Antwerp. Had that signal been made the city would have the missing the construction of the construction of the construction of the fire, and are still raging unchecked; but this last report is rot well anthen—ticated.

The Norfolk Day Book gives the following sterling intelligence from Branchville, S. C., 86 mil-s from Charleston, dated the 7th:

Had that eignal been made the city would have been delivered—the Spaniards driven out of the Low Conniries—fifty years of bloody war would have been prevented—and probably all Belgium would have been to this day a part of Protestant hollend. The weary patrices on the wharves of Antwerp heard the tremendous explosion of the freships and auxiously watched for the rising of the appoin of recket. A little more expedition on the part of our loyal troops would have carried them to Manassas on Saturday instead of Sunday Johnston's reinforcements would have been day. Johnston's reinforcements would have been too late. The conflict of Bull's Run might have had a different termination, and the history of the next ten years have read perhaps very differently.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. The Peeria Transcript has received late South-orn papers by a gentleman who left New Orleans on days ago, coming through Tennessee and Ken-ucky. The Bowling Green Courier says Parson Brownlow was arrested for treaton by the Coned-rate States Count-sioner at Knoxville on the 5th and committed to jail. The Knoxville Regis-er says, a rumor of an order from the Rebel War Department to give Brownlow a safe con luct to the North, had created intense excitement. The Baleigh, N. C., Standard of the 4th learns from a reliable roarce that a Federal regiment had taken possession of Portsmouth, N. C., and PITTSBURG, Dec. 16, M. River 5 feet 5 inches by pier merk and falling. Weather clear and mild.

THE REBELS SAID TO BE APPROACHING .-

We have had many rumors and reports for the last week about the return of the rebels and their advance upon this section of the Strte, all of which we discredited and treated light-ly ustil yesterday. We can now no longer treat these rumors as idle and sensitional. treat these rumors as idle and sensitional. Four respectable and creditable citizens of Morgan and Wolfe arrived here yesterday in great haste, several of them having travelled all night, and report that there is no doubt of the rebels having come back in the country above with increased force. They had seen and conversed with a number of pursons who had been taken prisoners, and gave their names, who had been released on taking the Confederate oath, and these asserted that the rebels were advancing from two directions—one body coming by way of Latcher, about 1,000 strong, and another body, mearly equally strong, coming from Prestonaburg. each other, and nearly all flad, leaving every-thing behind. These men are perfectly confident what they state is so, and that they are honest and sincere we have no earthly doubt. These are the simple facts we have concerning the matter. They further say that the secession-ists around Hazeigreen claim that the advancing force has six cannen and between five and six thousand men. Of course we don't believe a word of this, and only give it to show the calculation of the secssionists.

If there is any foundation in this advance—and If there is any foundation in this advance—and we cannot help inclining to the belief but that there is—it is plain that it is with the connicanes and knowledge of the secsion leaders in our midst. The advance, if made, is based upon the knowledge of aid and assistance right in our midst. They would never presume to advance in this county against their protestations. If it turns out, therefore, that they really come, or will attempt to come, our loyal cirizens will hold the secsionists of this county responsible.
